120th U.S. Women's Amateur Championship
Woodmont Country Club (North Course), August 3-9, 2020

Woodmont Country Club is honored to host the United States Golf Association (USGA) and the 120th edition of the U.S. Women's Amateur Championship on August 3-9, 2020.

Dear Prospective Supporter,

On November 3, 2017, the USGA announced Woodmont Country Club as its choice to host the 2020 U.S. Women's Amateur Championship, bringing it back to the nation's capital for the third time. While the Club has hosted many premier golf tournaments in the past—including 30 U.S. Open sectional qualifiers—this will be Woodmont's first time hosting a USGA Championship. Only the most worthy U.S. courses are chosen to host this tournament, which will be nationally televised on Fox Sports.

This endeavor requires extensive support from the Club membership and the corporate community. Your contributions, whether cash or in-kind, will enable us to host a successful and memorable Championship. The Championship is open to the public including access to the golf course for spectators who wish to see these elite players in action. We can think of no better way to showcase all that Woodmont has to offer.

We respectfully request your participation and support. Please review the supporter levels and associated benefits listed herein. We look forward to hosting the USGA and gaining your support.

Thank you for your consideration,
Ron Bubes and Joann DiMeglio
Championship Co-Chairs

About Woodmont Country Club

A short drive down the tree-lined driveway from Rockville Pike brings members and guests to Woodmont Country Club - a private, member-owned Club in an idyllic setting offering the very best in dining, golf, tennis, swimming, fitness, and good fellowship. Members think of Woodmont as their home away from home for themselves and their families, and as the perfect place for entertaining guests.

Woodmont Country Club was founded in 1913 as the Washington Suburban Club on leased property off Georgia Avenue in Washington, DC. In 1922, the Club moved to a site in Bethesda, MD - now the home of the National Institutes of Health. In 1950, the Club and its North Course opened at its current location in Rockville, MD.

The North Course was designed and constructed by Architect Alfred Tull with input from Woodmont member, Leopold Freudberg and Greens Superintendent, Rudy Will. In 1961, the second 18-hole course (South Course) was completed. In 2007, Architect Arthur Hills oversaw the work of rebuilding all 18 greens on the North Course. In 2018, the 18th hole on the North Course was redesigned, and work began to rebuild all bunkers, under the oversight of Architect Joel Weiman.

The Clubhouse has been remodeled and expanded numerous times. The latest renovation (started in conjunction with the Club's 100th anniversary in 2013) involved a complete overhaul of the dining facilities, a new state-of-the-art fitness center, an expanded ladies locker room and a new exterior.

Woodmont regularly makes available its facilities to military/veteran organizations, charitable and service groups, and youth programs. As one of the premier country clubs in the nation, Woodmont continues to serve its members with its world-class facilities, attentive staff and long history of excellence.

Golf with Morgan Pressel

All supporters will be invited to play in a private tournament in May 2020 with special guest, 2005 U.S. Women's Amateur Champion and Woodmont member, Morgan Pressel. In 2001, as a 12-year-old, Morgan became the youngest player to qualify for the U.S. Women's Open and in 2005, was runner-up as an amateur. In 2007, she became the youngest winner of an LPGA Major Championship. Morgan continues to be one of the top players on the LPGA tour.

About the USGA

The USGA celebrates, serves and advances the game of golf. Founded in 1894, we conduct many of golf's premier professional and amateur championships, including the U.S. Open and U.S. Women's Open. With The R&A, we govern the sport via a global set of playing, equipment and amateur status rules. Our operating jurisdiction for these governance functions is the United States, its territories and Mexico. The USGA Handicap System is utilized in more than 40 countries and our Course Rating System covers 95 percent of the world's golf courses, enabling all golfers to play on an equitable basis.

The USGA campus in Liberty Corner, New Jersey, is home to the Association's Research and Test Center, where science and innovation are fueling a healthy and sustainable game for the future. The campus is also home to the USGA Golf Museum, where we honor the game by curating the world's most comprehensive archive of golf artifacts. To learn more, visit usga.org.
